(By the Associated Press.)
St. Louis, June 21.—Completing the first leg of his trans-continental trip here today, President Harding entered upon a round of activities that need the eight hour visit allotted to St. Louis. The chief executive addressed the annual convention of the International Rotary in session here, at the cornerstone of the new city club building and delivered the first prepared address of his trip, with the world court as his subject.
The Presidential party left the train in Forest park and Mr. and Mrs. Harding were placed at the head of an automobile procession that took them over a seven-mile route to downtown St. Louis. The pavements from the park were lined three or four deep and bands stationed at mile intervals hailed the President's arrival in advance of the procession.
Speaking to the Rotarians, the President declared that if he could found a Rotary in every community throughout the world he would do so and then would guarantee tranquility and a forward march for the universe.
"Statesmen have their problems and governments have theirs," the President continued, "but if you could plant the spirit of the Rotary throughout the world and turn it to practical application, there would not be much trouble with the human procession."
Emphasizes Good City Importances.
Importance of city government to good government in the nation, was emphasized by the President in a brief address given after he had laid the cornerstone of the new home of the City club.
"You can only have a great state as you have great cities," he declared.
"Consequently those in charge of the national government have a real interest in the government of the cities." After the cornerstone laying, the President and Mrs. Harding were driven to a hotel where a public reception was held but only a small percentage of those holding tickets to the reception were able to greet them.
A quiet dinner preceded the address at the City club—the building in which Woodrow Wilson was nominated for the presidency for the second time. After the address the Presidential party was taken to the municipal open air theatre to see a portion of an opera and it was near midnight when Mr. and Mrs. Harding boarded the train again with Kansas City the next principal stop.
Against "League" Court.
The President, before plunging into his prepared address, spoke a few words of appreciation of the welcome attended him and Mrs. Harding in St. Louis. He departed from his manuscript early in his speech to tell Governor Hoadly, who had mentioned inland waterway developments as one of the achievements of the present administration, that he would discuss the subject tomorrow night in Kansas City.
The first outburst of applause came when he told of the removal of unemployment.
Vocal amplifying apparatus carried by the President's voice to all parts of the big hall, which holds 3,500 people, was also picked up by the speaker's words and conveyed them over a large section of the middle west.
Reference to savings through the better system drew applause.
Cheering and shouts greeted the President's first reference to the world court and there was additional applause when he mentioned the League of Nations.
"League court."
Reference World Court Plan.
President Harding placed before the country tonight a renewed plea for adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice. "It is the one and only existing agency of peace in which we can safely subscribe without violating the basic principles of our national being."
The President said that he "bring about the end he desired he would gladly wipe out factional differences, and proposed a reconstruction of the machinery of the international tribunal to dispose conclusively of all other claims of international danger from the exercise of any influence whatever, either open or covert, by the League of Nations or by any other organization."
"This could be done in one of two ways," he asserted. "First, by empowering the court itself to fill any vacancy arising from the death of a member or retirement for whatever reason, without intervention from any other body; or, second, by continuing to exercise authority of the Permanent Court of Arbitration to nominate and by transferring the power to and from the council and assembly of the League of Nations."
Then anticipating "the voice of the leader," who might wonder whether the nations were represented on the court would consent to these changes in the structure of the tribunal, Mr. Harding asserted that "to submit to a court which we consider essential to the preservation of our nationality is

CONCLUDE TAKING OF EVIDENCE IN KIDNAPPING TRIAL

Defendant Says on Stand District
Attorney Told Her He Thought
Women Were Mere Tools

Schenectady, June 21.—The taking of evidence was concluded today in the trial of Mrs. Harriette Grinnell of Alexandria Bay, charged with complicity in the kidnapping of Verner Alexanderson, 6, of this city. District Attorney Alexander Blessing of Schenectady county, and C. A. Hendrichs of Watertown, counsel for Mrs. Grinnell, are to sum up tomorrow morning and it is expected that the case will be presented to the jury early in the afternoon.
Mrs. Grinnell indicated on the stand today that she had been deceived by Harry Fairbanks and Stanley Crandall, who are sought as the boy's kidnappers, and that she had supposed that she was to care for him until his family arrived at the Indian river shack near Theresa, where the boy was found. When she learned his identity, she testified, she immediately wrote a letter to Mrs. E. F. W. Alexanderson, his mother, describing his whereabouts, but the letter never was posted because of her arrest.
Judge Threatens Exclusion.
Testimony of Mrs. Grinnell, corroborated by Mrs. Wava Fairbanks, wife of Harry, and under indictment for complicity in the case, and by Mrs. Ruth Crandall, wife of Stanley, and held as a material witness, the District Attorney Blessing had told them he believed the women were mere tools of the men and innocent of the kidnapping led to a verbal battle between the attorneys and the threat of the presiding judge to expel them from court if it was repeated.
"I don't know. I think that maybe you three women are innocent and the men only made catpaws of you," Mrs. Grinnell said. District Attorney Blessing told her as he left her cell in the jail at Watertown. Mr. Blessing, called to the stand, denied he had made the statement and charged counsel for the women with "framing" him.

not an act of discourtesy; it is the only fair, square and honorable thing a great, self-respecting nation can do."
The chief of the conditions suggested the President described as "the making of the world court precisely what its name implies."
"Can it be possible that, despite their protestations to the contrary, this is not what some of our sister states at heart desire?" he asked, "Must there be a lot of sincerity about as well as at home? Then the more quickly it can be made the better, the better for them and the better for us. There is nothing to be accomplished in ambiguity. We want to know. And the only way to find out is to inquire."
T. S. Fortunate Republic.
(By the Associated Press.)
On board President Harding's special train, Florida, Ill., June 21.—Traveling through Indiana and Illinois, enroute to St. Louis, President Harding today, in a series of rear platform addresses, said it was "heartening to those who are charged with the affairs of government to go out over the land and see the reflexes and measurable contentments and the hopefulness and the enjoyment of fairly fortunate conditions."
"After the tumult in the world, when everything was put out of regular order, humanity has to get about to restore itself," he said in a brief talk at Washington, Ind. "We are doing pretty well in the United States."
people in the world.
"Ours is a fortunate republic. I like to bring you a word of cheer, of confidence, of reassured hope that we are going to make the great recovery and we are going on to the fulfillment of the future destiny which is set for this republic."
Government Can Give Aid.
"The government can not make fortunes for its people; that is your business; but the government can help and does seek to help," Mr. Harding said at Vincennes. "It is always endeavoring to strike at and destroy the evil which may become apparent and to bring about such conditions for the people that they may acquire and achieve for themselves. We may say that is the ideal democracy. We hope that you will help your government and I know that your government means to help you in striking at and possible eliminating the evils that sometimes menace our representative democracy."
"Did you ever stop to think what government is?" the chief executive asked at Olney.
"It is not some fancied, unreal, institution; it is merely the authority which you have set up for the adjustment of your relationship one to another. That is all. The law is a code for the adjustment of our fellow relationships. You could not want a government under which one community could thrive at the expense of another; you could not wish a republic under which one group of citizens could prosper while another group would be hindered."

DENIES MURDER

Turc, Says Witness, Denies Death of Bronx Man When Neighbors Relate It; Asks Her to Keep Silent

New York, June 21.—Two women at the trial of Mrs. Anna Buxy, charged with the murder of Frederick Schneider, today accused William Turc, Mrs. Buxy's brother-in-law, of having threatened to kill Schneider upon several occasions. This came as an unexpected development after Turc's testimony of yesterday that Mrs. Buxy had confessed to him that she committed the crime.
The two were Turc's wife and her sister, Mrs. Sophie Dickie. Mrs. Dickie testified that the Saturday before the murder, Turc drew a revolver, waved it menacingly and yelled:
"I'd like to kill that Hun, Fred Schneider."
Later, on the night of the murder, she said, Turc shouted that Schneider would not be seen after 5 o'clock. This story was amplified by Mrs. Turc, who stated that many times during the last four years Turc had threatened to kill the wealthy Bronx contractor.
Schneider Makes Advances.
"Schneider made improper advances to me," she said, "and although my husband said nothing at the time, as soon as Schneider left said, 'I'm going to get that Hun.' The first time he threatened to kill Fred was about four years ago, and he's been continuing ever since."
Mrs. Turc, who was formerly a circus rider, testified that her husband had experienced a great deal of trouble with Schneider, who used to ridicule him for his small stature. She left Turc shortly after the murder.
Mrs. Turc stated several times that Turc was very jealous of Schneider's advances to her. On one occasion, she said, Schneider took her to the hotel where he was staying and asked her to stay there with him, saying: "Why don't you get a real man?"
On the night of the murder, she said, when neighbors told her Schneider had been killed, her husband denied it. He persisted in declaring there was nothing in the report and when taking her to the theatre later, asked her to say nothing about it.

PRIEST STOOD TO PROFIT BY DEATH

Delorme, Ex-Priest, Lived Beyond
Means and Faced $100,000
by Half-Brother's Demise

Montreal, June 21.—Adelard Delorme, former priest, charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul, lived far beyond his means and was deep in debt at the time of Raoul's death by which he stood to benefit in excess of $100,000, R. L. Calder, crown prosecutor, declared as he opened his case today.
One significant feature of Raoul's will was that it discriminated against his own sisters in favor of Delorme's sisters, the prosecutor said, while the former priest was willed $62,000 and revenues from other legacies.
The prosecutor dwelt for some length on the question of the $25,000 insurance policy, which he said he could prove was taken out by the slain youth at the insistence of Father Delorme.
The will of the father of the two men also was called to the attention of the jury. Under it Raoul was given $70,000 whereas the prisoner received $15,681. The priest, like a millionaire, Attorney Calder declared, and went on extensive motor trips at frequent intervals. On Dec. 31, 1922, Raoul had a balance of his legacy amounting to $9,577 due him, while the priest had a deficit of $12,912.
"WOLF OF MOSCOW"
EXECUTED MONDAY
Convicted of Murdering 33 Persons Since 1921 at Tass
Given in His Home
(By the Associated Press.)
Moscow, June 21.—Ivan Komarov, known as "the wolf of Moscow," convicted of murdering 33 persons since 1921, and his wife, were executed Monday night by a firing squad.
Throughout his trial Komarov had affected bravado, but after his conviction he endeavored in every way to save his life. First he appealed for a new trial, and when this was denied, he pleaded with the government for clemency for his wife, but the central executive committee declined to change the sentence and Komarov and his wife were put to death.
Komarov was a former Moscow cabinet officer. He was arrested last month on a charge of having murdered 23 persons. In a confession which involved his wife and other persons, Komarov said all the victims were killed while attending tea parties in his home, where they had been invited for the purpose of robbery. Twenty-two bodies, tied in sacks, were found in the cellar of his home.
BERLIN EXCHANGE DEALERS
FEAR GOVERNMENT PLANS
(By the Associated Press.)
Berlin, June 21.—Nervousness prevailed among the dealers in exchange today, when on the eve of the government's new drive against them, the police authorities are handling the foreign currency situation.
Sweeping restrictions on traffic in money and stocks are forecast as a result of the government's conference with financial and economic experts, which are expected to lead to final conclusions soon. It is reported that new punitive measures of unusual severity will be instituted, and that the whole program for booking the mark will be carried out by the end of the signing of next week or earlier.
INVENTS FLASHLESS POWDER
Washington, June 21.—Successful development of a new powder for use in small arms and artillery, which possesses all the driving power of the type now in use and at the same time is smokeless, flashless and impervious to moisture, was announced today by the war department.
Both moisture proof quality and the fact that the new powder can be exploded without a flash are regarded by department experts as of great importance. The former will obviate much of the pains that have to be taken under modern warfare conditions to keep ammunition dry, and the latter will permit of night firing without revealing the position of the forces making the attack.

Columbus, Ohio, June 21.—The death toll of the heat wave which has been rising in its grip since Monday, stood at 27.
Continuation of the scorching weather for the remainder of the week is predicted by weather bureau officials. Of the 22 victims whose deaths were either directly or indirectly caused by the torrid weather, eight were victims of heat prostration, 11 were drowned, two committed suicide and one was killed by lightning.
Temperatures as high as 92 prevailed in many sections of the state yesterday.

Promise to Examine
Sanity of Robber

New York, June 21.—New York sizzled toward the promised close of its first real heat wave of the summer tonight, with a record of a dozen deaths and prostrations that were numbered in the scores.
Freshening northwest winds, springing up after the mercury had mounted to 92 degrees at 4 o'clock, brought some relief to the sweltering millions, but the asphalt streets and big buildings continued for hours to fight the breeze with their stored up heat.
The forecaster promised that it would be "somewhat cooler," both tonight and tomorrow, but he would not commit himself to a statement that the heat wave was really gone. An earlier promise of possible showers was withdrawn.
The hot spell produced its smiles along with the suffering it dealt out, especially on the crowded east side, where fire escapes and the available park space were crowded with fugitives from hot tenements.
Seals Fleece Lined Coat.
Thomas Collins, a stevedore, produced one of the broadest smiles when he rushed into the 47th street police station where the office force was busy mopping brows and quelling led drunks and explained pitifully that somebody has stolen his fleece lined overcoat. Lieutenant Griffith, in charge, promised to send the offender to Bellevue hospital for observation as to his sanity if he was apprehended.
John Swinehart, a printer, was found swimming in the nude in mid-harbor. Hauled aboard a ferry boat nearly drowned, he explained that he had started out with a friend in a row boat to seek the cooling sea breezes. A wave kicked up by a passing steamer rocked the boat and he went overboard. His companion, intent on sea breezes, rowed off without even missing him, he said. He doffed his garments one by one in his struggle to keep afloat.
Palm fans were doled out to perspiring jurors in the New York courts and in one court the electric lights were dimmed until the courtroom assumed a twilight air.
Only Zephyrus Arrive.
Albany, June 21.—Intense heat which has robbed the state of comfort and sleep for three sweltering days and nights, was but slightly alleviated tonight by promised cooling breezes. The breeze proved to be zephyrus, bringing some relief, but apparently failing to discourage the monomers which this week have been hobnobbing with the upper 90's and indicating disinclination to terminate the visit.
Poughkeepsie's reported 102 degrees above apparently tops heat records for the week. Virtually every hamlet, village and city has established season records, most of them between 90 and 100 degrees.
At least three deaths have been attributed to the hot weather, with a number of drownings increasing the total. The prostrations have been counted in scores.
99 in Philadelphia.
New York, June 21.—With more than 40 dead and scores of prostrations reported, eastern states continued to swelter today in the general heat wave. Philadelphia reported the hottest June day in the history of its weather bureau, when the temperature mounted to 93 degrees, while it reached 95 in Providence, the warmest spot thus far in the New England states.
Schools and factories throughout the eastern states generally were closed today and in many cities, city employes were given liberty until the heat wave has been broken. Householders thronged parks tonight to escape the torrid condition. While the death toll in New York was larger today, the temperature was two degrees below that of yesterday, when it reached 93.
No Break in Sight.
Chicago, June 21.—No break in the heat wave which has held Chicago and vicinity in its grasp since Monday was seen in weather forecasts today. Seventeen persons have died in Chicago since Monday from heat prostration.

UNION LEADERS WOULD RESIGN TO END CAR STRIKE

Ward and Walker Willing to Quit
if Company Will Recognize
Union and Give Men Back
Their Positions

Schenectady, June 21.—Another proposal for settling the railway strike, now entering its sixth week, was made today.
Walter Walker, president, and Michael Ward, business agent, of the striking carmen's union, today announced they would resign their position if the Schenectady railway company would agree to recognize the organization and permit the strikers to resume their employment. The proposal parallels the suggestion made to the company by Mayor C. A. Whitely on June 9, to which Harry B. Weatherwax, president, replied that the "company was going along all right" and that it never would recognize the union.
The position of Ward and Walker as officials of the union met with the company's objection long before the strike was begun. The company at that time declared it would recognize the organization if new officers were elected, but the men by a vote of confidence retained Ward and Walker. The offer to resign is the first made by the men since the strike was begun. The company had not tonight answered the proposal.
Petitions Distributed.
At the order of Mayor Whitely petitions were distributed today requesting the signature of citizens to statements as to whether they favored company recognition of the union after the resignation of Ward and Walker, or upheld the company in its position.
Car service gradually has been extended into the night, it being noticed that interurban cars last night ran until long past midnight. Day service steadily has been increased, and cars are in operation on virtually all lines.
FURY OF MT. ETNA
APPEARS LESSENER
Flow of Lava Practically Stopped;
Volcano Still Belches Fire
Smoke and Dust
Rome, June 21.—The fury of Mt. Etna, seemed to be diminishing tonight, and messages of hope are pouring in from Sicily. The flow of lava, which became slower during the day, is now almost stopped, although the volcano is still belching forth smoke, cinders and dust.
The people, however, are inclined to be skeptical, for last night almost everyone believed that Etna's force was spent, but this morning it was still erupting powerfully.
Dr. Nicolai, mayor of Linguaglossa, informed King Victor Emanuel that the damage amounts approximately to 70 million lire. Most of the residents of that town and Castiglione have returned to their homes, the panic has abated, and conditions in general are becoming normal.
JUDGE TRIES SEVEN LIQUOR
CASES WITH THE SAME JURY
New York, June 21.—In an effort to clear the calendar in the congested criminal branch of the federal court in Brooklyn Judge Harland B. Howe of Vermont, temporarily transferred here, inaugurated today the unique procedure of trying seven cases by one jury.
The seven defendants were charged with possessing and selling liquor. Six were acquitted. Henry Isaal of Valley Stream was found guilty and fined $100.
The judge has been disposing of about 50 cases a day by accepting pleas of guilty and imposing nominal fines. The seven defendants today, however, demanded jury trials.
BROKERS FACE RUIN.
New York, June 21.—Charging that the New York stock exchange was responsible for "the present condition and feeling in Wall street," District Attorney Barton tonight asserted its chief officer had fought against constructive legislation that would have been helpful to the brokerage business and had demanded and obtained a law "the enforcement of which will ruin the brokerage business of New York."
POLISH MARK COLLAPSES.
(By the Associated Press.)
Berlin, June 21.—The police minister of finance and trade has resigned because of the new collapse of the Polish mark, according to an agency dispatch received here from Warsaw.
The dispatch adds that all the banks in Poland have been ordered to surrender their foreign currency holdings to the government before tomorrow, and that meanwhile all the exchange markets in the country are closed.
TWO GET WRY OF ERROR
New York, June 21.—Edith Subbotin and Samuel Green, after being sentenced today to two years in federal prison and fined $10,000 each for attempting to bribe a federal agent, were granted a writ of error by Judge Nathan in the federal circuit court of appeals, and were released to $25,000 and $5,000 bail, respectively.
Lynch Kait and Charles Schuchman who were also convicted, made up application for a writ and were subsequently prepared to serve their term at Atlanta.

Injunctions Under New
Martin Statute

"STREET" CROOKED

Unscrupulous Persons Start Rumors of State Inquiry and Rum
That Firm's Business,
Says Sherman

New York, June 21.—The housecleaning in Wall street, inaugurated from the failure of E. M. Fuller & Company for $5,000,000 and disclosure that the house was one of scores of bucketshops, where brokers bet their brains against the customers' money, brought four important developments today:
1. Inauguration by Attorney General Sherman of a campaign to close all bucket shops by injunction, under the recently adopted Martin act.
2. Announcement that W. A. Shillworth, who has been sharply under fire because of his alleged relations with now bankrupt members of the Consolidated stock exchange, had decided to resign the exchange presidency next Thursday and that Lawrence Tweedy, vice president, asked to succeed him, would immediately start a thorough reorganization of the exchange.
3. Disciplinary action by the New York curb market against two members alleged to have committed acts injurious to the exchange. One was expelled and one suspended for a year.
Drive Begins in East.
4.—Reports that powerful banking interests in the street had inaugurated a series of conferences to seek some means of stabilizing the conditions in the financial zone. In this connection the statement last night of President Cromwell of the New York stock exchange, that a movement was on foot to organize a pool to save houses subjected to ruin, was recalled.
The attorney general's drive, announced last night, was begun in the morning by the issuance of subpoenas from Supreme Court Justice Wamersburg compelling injunctions restraining the bucketshop brokerage firms of W. W. Weiss & Company and J. H. Dube & Company from bucketshop or otherwise engaging in fraudulent stock transactions. Wilfred W. Weiss and Joseph Dube, who recently consolidated but kept both firm names, were ordered to appear Monday to show cause why the injunctions should not be made permanent.
The firms were said not to have any direct exchange connections.
While only two injunctions were sought today, the attorney general's office indicated that similar actions would be forthcoming from time to time, as the widespread investigation being conducted by the department bears fruit.
Attacks Martin Law.
"I am sorry to say that Wall street is full of crooked individuals who start false rumors and gamble upon the market results," the district attorney said. "Such individuals will start rumors that a given broker is under investigation by the attorney general and thus will ruin that broker's business."
He referred to the firm of Zimmerman and Forsyth, which failed yesterday, as one of the "victims of rumors," and pointed out that in two years in New York county alone, 158 brokerage houses with liabilities of more than $120,000,000 had failed.
Mr. Barton attacked as defective the Martin law permitting the attorney general to investigate any brokerage house as it provided for full immunity from prosecution by the district attorney of the state of any investigated firm. He also asserted that the law required secrecy in such investigations to the ruin of such firms by the undermining of their credit when the inquiry became known "through one agency or another."
"Unless the brokerage business was put under supervision of the superintendent of banks, as was provided under the Sherman bill, defeated in the recent legislature, Mr. Barton asserted, the business would collapse."
Justice Issues Injunctions.
New York, June 21.—Supreme Court Justice Wamersburg today signed two orders temporarily enjoining the stock brokerage firms of W. W. Weiss & Company and J. H. Dube & Company from bucketshop or otherwise engaging in fraudulent stock transactions. The order directed Wilfred W. Weiss and Joseph H. Dube to appear next Monday morning and show cause why the injunction obtained by the attorney general's office under the Martin act should not be made permanent.
TWO GET WRY OF ERROR
New York, June 21.—Edith Subbotin and Samuel Green, after being sentenced today to two years in federal prison and fined $10,000 each for attempting to bribe a federal agent, were granted a writ of error by Judge Nathan in the federal circuit court of appeals, and were released to $25,000 and $5,000 bail, respectively.

Baseball at Morris

Morris, June 21. — The baseball game at Morris on the Fourth of July will be between the Morris and South New Berlin teams and not as previously stated. Both towns have good teams and a close and exciting contest is looked for.

Baseball Notes

Ernest Maun of the Wichita team is having a big season.

Babe Ruth is just getting warmed up to the home-run habit.

Two hundred and fifty under-graduates at Williams college are playing baseball.

The St. Louis Nationals have transferred Ad Meritt from the Houston club to the Syracuse club.

More major league baseball players come from the Pacific Coast league than from any minor association.

Walter Rostker, University of Illinois outfielder and pitcher, was elected captain of the 1924 baseball team.

Zach Wheat may not be able to show the speed of other days, but his batting eye is just as clear as it ever was.

Ty Cobb holds the record for the longest service with one club. This is his eighteenth year with the Detroit Americans.

The state of George Siler's health has improved to the extent that his medical advisers have told him to take up light exercise.

Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, has refused an offer from the Chicago White Sox for Joe Boley, his star shortstop.

R. C. Hoblitzel, first baseman with the Red Sox in championship days, is making a big success of it in Charlotte, N. C., where he is manager.

The world is full of gentlemen who justify an afternoon lay-off with the deep-rooted conviction that they alone bring luck to the home team.

The St. Louis Nationals seem to have picked up a real shortstop in Freigan, a youngster who has fielded admirably and slugged the bean over J.M.

Hank Loe, an outfielder of the Flint Miners, who quit the game because of illness of his wife, has returned and hopes for Dan O'Leary's team are higher.

The Rochester and the Detroit clubs have reached an agreement on the Cliff Brady case and Rochester has withdrawn its case from the hands of Commissioner Landis.

Not among the least in making this a big year for baseball in Dallas is Pitcher Shippey Conley, who is twisting the sort of stuff that got him major league recognition, two or three years ago.

If there are any better first basemen than Lefty Grimes, the fans of Pittsburgh would like to get a glimpse of them.

Manager Ed Grossen of the Chicago White Sox, well supplied with outfielders, wants Ed Falk to take up pitching.

Catcher Rip King, turned back to Portland by Shreveport, has been definitely suspended for alleged failure to keep in condition.

Outfielder Gene Valla of the San Francisco Seals is making good on all predictions and is set to make a few records for consistent hitting.

AN EASY VICTORY

Glenn Hove No Trouble in Winning Keating's Outfit for Second Time in Two Days—Some Star Catchers in Field—Tannersville Here Today.

The Oneonta Giants yesterday demonstrated decisively to the Oneonta fans who journeyed here to witness the fray between the two clubs that the victory of the Bridwells over the Keating bunch at Oneonta Wednesday was not simply the result of a few lucky hits on their trick ball orchard.

Bridwell gave the "high sign" to his men in the first round and they responded merrily, four runs being gotten as the result of some heavy hitting of Delaney's intended delivery. Two singles, a base on balls, a hit batsman and Simon's cleanup triple tell, briefly, how the tallies were gotten.

From then on there wasn't a semblance of a chance for the visitors, not even in the latter rounds, when it was said by the side village enthusiasts that Davis would weaken and then they would get after him, did they threaten. True, they got their lone tally in the seventh with only one sent to the bench. But one run wasn't even a starter in that game and as they couldn't get any more, they were lost under the landslide.

Clifford cut Eckstein out of a double in the sixth. The batter hit to deep left, the runner ran back, leaped into the air and speared the sphere with his gloved hand. In the eighth paragraph Wilcox practically duplicated the same stunt on Clifford's fly, except that he did not have to leave the earth. These were the most spectacular plays, although there were several good infield stunts displayed. Swat Byrnes was sent into right field by the Redmen and caused a laugh when he got his bulk into motion after a fly hit to him. He ran hard, but mismanaged to miss catching the ball. Swat was compelled to go hitless, although the stands were pulling for him to get one.

Tannersville will be on the boards this afternoon for another game of the series.

What Points Should be Kept in Mind When Playing a Ball From a Hanging Lie?

Answered by BOB CRUICKSHANK

The man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchison, Sarason, and Barnes in an invitation tournament at St. Joseph, Mo. Barnes up in Pittsburgh tournament for professional golfers, 1922, being defeated only by Sarason.

A good balance at the top of the back-swing, so essential in all shots, is especially necessary when playing the ball from a hanging lie. The player should stand a little behind the ball, use a fairly open stance, and a slight upright swing. Do not hurry the shot or do anything else which will tend to destroy balance, as this will interfere with the accuracy and distance of the ball when hit. Take turf just before hitting the ball. An iron or a cleek is the proper club to use in making this shot, under ordinary circumstances.

Akron, O.—Cakes of ice were used in the placing of two heavy sculptured stone lions at the entrance of the Summit county court house here. After the statues had been hauled to the scene it was found that there was no available derrick to lift them from the wagons into position. However, an ingenious mind suggested filling the excavations in which the stone lions were to rest with ordinary cakes of ice to a level with the wagons. Sliding the figures from the wagons onto the ice was an easy matter. By melting the ice with hot water they were soon lowered to their foundations.

Mr. Slocum said: "The New York problem, however, remains to be solved and we believe the league must become a larger factor in the direct to consumer business before it will have a sufficiently great influence on the metropolitan market to increase the farmers' net return. Your officers and directors believe this is the big problem which faces the league and should be solved during the next twelve months."

The president pointed out that the big thing accomplished by the production department during the year was in putting the association's plants in a position where they can do their part in taking care of New York city's maximum demands for fluid milk at any time. The association was operating 111 plants on March 31 and of this number 83 were under board of health inspection, either shipping milk or ready to ship milk at a moment's notice.

He said the recent removal of the sales department and other departments from Utica to 120 West Forty-second street, New York city, was made necessary because of the increasing importance of the association's marketing activities. Over 90 per cent of all sales he explains are made in New York city.

In his annual report, Albert Manning of Otisville, Master of the New York State Grange, said that on May 1, 1921, when the pooling plan went into effect, the membership was 20,542. On April 1, 1922, the beginning of the present fiscal year, there were 24,251 contracts on hand. New contracts have been received since April 1 at the rate of approximately 500 a month, he said.

Mr. Manning said there are 250 local associations, distributed as follows: New York, 721; Pennsylvania, 168; New Jersey, 42; and New England, 13. He added that never in the history of either the old league or the Cooperative association have the records of the locals been in as good condition as they are right now.

Mr. Manning pointed out that a signal victory of the dairymen of the country was the passage of the Filled Milk bill by congress after two years' strenuous fighting. About twenty states, he said, have passed state laws covering the manufacture and sale of this adulterated milk product. "Our great problem," the secretary said, "will be an educational one, not only to the public but to the milk producer, and particularly the producer who is not a member of the pool. These producers must be educated as to our policy and plans; they must be convinced that the men selected as directors and officers are the best men available and worthy of the confidence of the membership, that the men placed at the head of departments are capable and qualified for their particular line of work. In short, they must be convinced that the operations are the most efficient possible in an organization of this kind. This cannot, as a rule, be done by sarcasm or offensive argument. It is most unfortunate if harsh words have been spoken which have caused ill feeling between farmers and neighbors. But the most subtle propaganda comes from those whom the farmers thought they could trust. Some propaganda has been circulated by publications distributed among farmers with the result of arraying one group of farmers against another. This condition has already cost the farmers millions and millions of dollars. It is a crime which someone should answer. Day by day producers are realizing that they have made a mistake, and they do not feel quite right about it."

DAIRYMEN'S LEAGUE MEETING

Reports at Annual Meeting of Farmers' Organization Showed Many Accomplishments in Orderly Marketing of Milk and Milk Products.

Utica, June 21.—The accomplishments of the Dairymen's League Cooperative association, Inc., during the second year's operation of its plan for the orderly marketing of milk and milk products were placed on the record at the annual meeting of the association in the State armory, this city, today. This record, in the opinion of the officers and members of the Board of Directors, is one of the most remarkable in the history of big business enterprises.

The gross sales during the year amounted to $22,139,902.17, as compared with $21,943,832.94 during the preceding year, an increase of $196,069.23.

The pooled milk handled in plants operated by dealers and in plants operated by the association amounted to 3,359,273.358 pounds, as compared with 2,443,476.805 pounds during the preceding year, an increase of 793,796.553 pounds. The association doubled the amount of milk handled in its own plants.

The average net return to producers was at the rate of $1.32 per 100 pounds of 3 per cent milk at the 201-210 mile freight zone. This includes 1,1374 per 100 pounds in certificates of indebtedness.

The business of the day was transacted by delegates from 350 locals, each local having an accredited representative chosen by the members, and each delegate having authority to cast one vote on any and all measures that came up. Reduced fares were offered by the railroads and many enthusiastic poolers journeyed to Utica to get first hand information of the year's operation.

The principal addresses of the day were made by John D. Miller, vice president and general counsel of the association and president of National Milk Producers' Federation, and John M. Kelly, vice president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

In his annual report President Slocum said the greatest change that has taken place in the association during the year has been in the organization of departments. There are now ten departments, the heads of which have been selected with the greatest care, all of whom are directly responsible for the operations under their charge. These departments are: production, sales and advertising, secretary's department, banking, accounting, engineering, traffic, legal, purchasing and office manager.

Mr. Slocum said a decidedly progressive move had been made in the adoption of a fixed marketing program. First, he explained, came development and expansion of the fluid milk business, and second, the development and expansion of the association's evaporated milk business.

"During the past year," he continued, "our plants have been brought up to the highest point of efficiency in production and sanitation with greatly increased capacity. Our policy is to turn out the best evaporated milk in the world."

"We have selected these two lines of production in which your association has a distinct competitive advantage: fluid milk first and evaporated milk second. Milk does not mean that future changes in marketing conditions may not lead us into other endeavors. For this coming year, however, our whole effort is being thrown into selling these two leading products."

Discussing the fluid milk situation, Mr. Slocum said: "The New York problem, however, remains to be solved and we believe the league must become a larger factor in the direct to consumer business before it will have a sufficiently great influence on the metropolitan market to increase the farmers' net return. Your officers and directors believe this is the big problem which faces the league and should be solved during the next twelve months."

The president pointed out that the big thing accomplished by the production department during the year was in putting the association's plants in a position where they can do their part in taking care of New York city's maximum demands for fluid milk at any time. The association was operating 111 plants on March 31 and of this number 83 were under board of health inspection, either shipping milk or ready to ship milk at a moment's notice.

He said the recent removal of the sales department and other departments from Utica to 120 West Forty-second street, New York city, was made necessary because of the increasing importance of the association's marketing activities. Over 90 per cent of all sales he explains are made in New York city.

In his annual report, Albert Manning of Otisville, Master of the New York State Grange, said that on May 1, 1921, when the pooling plan went into effect, the membership was 20,542. On April 1, 1922, the beginning of the present fiscal year, there were 24,251 contracts on hand. New contracts have been received since April 1 at the rate of approximately 500 a month, he said.

Mr. Manning said there are 250 local associations, distributed as follows: New York, 721; Pennsylvania, 168; New Jersey, 42; and New England, 13. He added that never in the history of either the old league or the Cooperative association have the records of the locals been in as good condition as they are right now.

Mr. Manning pointed out that a signal victory of the dairymen of the country was the passage of the Filled Milk bill by congress after two years' strenuous fighting. About twenty states, he said, have passed state laws covering the manufacture and sale of this adulterated milk product. "Our great problem," the secretary said, "will be an educational one, not only to the public but to the milk producer, and particularly the producer who is not a member of the pool. These producers must be educated as to our policy and plans; they must be convinced that the men selected as directors and officers are the best men available and worthy of the confidence of the membership, that the men placed at the head of departments are capable and qualified for their particular line of work. In short, they must be convinced that the operations are the most efficient possible in an organization of this kind. This cannot, as a rule, be done by sarcasm or offensive argument. It is most unfortunate if harsh words have been spoken which have caused ill feeling between farmers and neighbors. But the most subtle propaganda comes from those whom the farmers thought they could trust. Some propaganda has been circulated by publications distributed among farmers with the result of arraying one group of farmers against another. This condition has already cost the farmers millions and millions of dollars. It is a crime which someone should answer. Day by day producers are realizing that they have made a mistake, and they do not feel quite right about it."

Stone Lions Placed by Aid of Ice Cakes
Akron, O.—Cakes of ice were used in the placing of two heavy sculptured stone lions at the entrance of the Summit county court house here. After the statues had been hauled to the scene it was found that there was no available derrick to lift them from the wagons into position. However, an ingenious mind suggested filling the excavations in which the stone lions were to rest with ordinary cakes of ice to a level with the wagons. Sliding the figures from the wagons onto the ice was an easy matter. By melting the ice with hot water they were soon lowered to their foundations.

Reports at Annual Meeting of Farmers' Organization Showed Many Accomplishments in Orderly Marketing of Milk and Milk Products.

Utica, June 21.—The accomplishments of the Dairymen's League Cooperative association, Inc., during the second year's operation of its plan for the orderly marketing of milk and milk products were placed on the record at the annual meeting of the association in the State armory, this city, today. This record, in the opinion of the officers and members of the Board of Directors, is one of the most remarkable in the history of big business enterprises.

The gross sales during the year amounted to $22,139,902.17, as compared with $21,943,832.94 during the preceding year, an increase of $196,069.23.

The pooled milk handled in plants operated by dealers and in plants operated by the association amounted to 3,359,273.358 pounds, as compared with 2,443,476.805 pounds during the preceding year, an increase of 793,796.553 pounds. ## TANNERSVILLE TODAY

Oneonta plays Tannersville this afternoon at Oneonta hall park in the third game of the series. Manners, who held the Giants to four hits in last Saturday's game and except for a bad fourth inning had beatdown's hitters at his mercy, will accept the mound for the visitors. It is understood that while Manners is in the box, Kean will twirl for the Giants. The game will open at 4:15 o'clock.

Dugan, whose playing for Tannersville last season caused not a little comment, will be in the field for Tannersville, whose line-up has been bolstered up in an effort to make a strong showing against the local nine after the double set-back the Eastern Catskill players received a week ago. Manager Bridwell has not made any changes, but after the stick wielding his boys displayed yesterday in the walk-away over Unadilla, there is some doubt in the minds of local fans as to whether Manners will fare quite so well this time.

Tomorrow the Giants play a return game at Tannersville and the following day at Schoenectady. Monday the Tannersville nine comes here again for the fourth game of the series.

Elvage Breakdown Maroons Case

The breaking of a cable put out of commission the huge elevator in Dibble's garage yesterday morning and marooned about fifty cars on the second and third floors. A man was dispatched from Union to remedy the difficulty as soon as the accident was reported but it was early in the evening before the cable could be replaced. In the meantime traveling men and others having cars in storage there were forced to wait in patience. Mr. Dibble was descending in the elevator with a car when the cable broke but an efficient was the safety device that the elevator came down gradually and in a manner little different than usual.

Over 300 Are Graduated From Oneonta State Normal School

Dr. Charles F. Wheelock of State Education Department Presents Diplomas to 337 Young Men and Women At 34th Annual Commencement Exercises Yesterday Morning—Alumni Banquet in Evening Crowned Events of Successful Year.

The thirty-fourth year of work at the Oneonta State Normal school came to an end yesterday, when a class numbering 337 graduates passed in dignified fashion, as befits those who after faithful and honest work have attained a long-sought goal, before Assistant State Commissioner Charles F. Wheelock and received the diplomas which entitle them to teach in the schools of the Empire state. The class was one of the largest, if not the largest, in the history of the school, and unquestionably it had never been surpassed in quality of work done or in genuine aspiration to serve the state in the important profession for which their diplomas are certificates of qualification. Practically all of the graduates, it is understood, have accepted positions, and will begin teaching in September next.

The formal exercises of graduation began at 10 o'clock in the school auditorium, which was well filled with graduates and their friends and a goodly number of citizens of Oneonta, some of whom were heard to boast that never had they failed in the whole history of the school to be present on graduation day. The stage was banked with daisies and a touch of color was lent by a magnificent bouquet of pink and white peonies. Upon the platform were seated Dr. Wheelock, Rev. Dr. James C. Russell, Superintendent Dana and President Saunders of the city schools, President Brown and Messrs. I. H. Rowe, Mrs. George B. Baird, Walter S. Whipple and O. L. Rowe of the local board and Principal Hughes and the faculty of the Normal school.

Following entrance of the long procession of white gownned young ladies comprising the class, prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. James C. Russell of the First Presbyterian church, and the Glee club, which is always a feature of Commencement day, sang with fine effect the song by Danahy, "The West Wind and the May." The Glee club sang as well as the other choral numbers, were directed by Miss Esthey Greene, to whom as instructor in vocal music, much credit is due. After excellent musical numbers were "Glory to God," "The Spirit of Service," "Aida," by the school chorus, "Benedictus," "Symphony and Fugue," in which Miss Greene delighted all, and "Spring Heralds" by the Glee club.

The orations of the morning were excellent in theme, in construction and in presentation. Each speaker had a positive point of view and a constructive philosophy. It would be difficult to find anywhere more effective speaking or more timely topics. We congratulate each and all upon the success of the occasion.

The first speaker was Miss Erna Mawdsley of Callicoon, Sullivan county. Her topic was, "The Spirit of Service." She discussed, first, the life of Sydney Carton, the hero of service. Second, she measured modern tendencies in terms of service. She reached the conclusion that the greatest curse of the world today is selfishness—"the desire to get as much as possible and give as little as need be." She quoted from a recent speech by President Harding wherein he denounced the present tendency to gain personal profits at the expense of the common good. She said in conclusion: "Now, what are we going to do about it? Begin at home, begin with ourselves, begin now, to preach and teach and live the brotherhood of man."

The second oration of the morning was given by Miss Esther Roseman of Mohawk. She chose for her subject, "The Spirit of America." In a most interesting and convincing manner she analyzed this most elusive but most real force—the indwelling spirit of America. It is a land of wisdom and plenty—a land of opportunity—a land of good will—a land where each may achieve the utmost of his possibilities. In her conclusion she quoted most effectively from Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country." The substance is this: "Remember that behind institutions and governments and peoples even is the country herself, your country, and that you belong to her as you belong to your mother." Nothing else, she said, more perfectly expresses the spirit of America.

Miss Anna Darling, who is a graduate of our own High school, was the third speaker of the morning. She took for the subject of her oration this sentiment: "In the Service of My Country." She applied this principle to the life and character of General Leonard Wood. She found that he has been devoted to men and to his country and government even his private life in public affairs. In the last great war he was kept at home; he should have been given service overseas. He should have received the Republican nomination for the presidency; he was not so named at the Chicago convention. Notwithstanding, he has never refused to serve his country; for he knows that behind administrations is the country herself. He has always said: "I am a soldier; I go where I am sent." The speaker concluded most eloquently: "Now, I say this: There is not a man in America who deserves more praise for patriotic service than does General Wood."

The next speaker was Miss Mary Frederick of Holtville. "A Leader of Men" was her topic. Her hero is Roosevelt, and right well did she reveal his high qualities. She spoke most effectively of some of the things that made Roosevelt such a magnetic leader, such a great American. First, he prepared himself for service to his country. Second, he was most fearless in service. Third, he was most patriotic in service. Last, he was just in his management of public affairs. He preached the "square deal" and he practiced it. All these qualities of mind and heart unquestionably made him the foremost American of his day. It was a splendid oration, and it received the closest attention of the large audience.

The last speaker of the morning was Miss Olive Hite of Corning. She has been president of the student league, and her influence in the school has been marked. It is not surprising, then, that she chose for her topic of discussion "The Mission of Education." Very clearly and earnestly she spoke of the great objectives of education: education for efficiency; education for citizenship; education for life. She gave worthy praise to these various things, but she insisted that the real mission of education is this: To set in true relation to life the inner things of the spirit; for "man does not live by bread alone." Thus she brought to a fine conclusion the splendid arguments of the morning.

At the close of the orations Dr. Bugbee felicitously introduced Commissioner Wheelock, referring in particular to the fifty years of the latter's excellent service with the schools of the state, to the high regard in which personally and professionally he is held and to the hope which all will entertain for many years of rest from labor well done, which are his due. His many friends regret his retirement from service, but Oneonta will not consent to have him retire from her. He is one who, paraphrasing the words of Stevenson, has done a good work and kept many friends.

Dr. Wheelock in his brief address, which had closed to the day as one to which the hopes of the class had gone forward for years. It was also a great day for Dr. Wheelock himself, since it was his last day after half a century of service, but it was a great day for the graduates also, as it was the first day of such service; and it was his hope and sincere trust that each will be more and more delightful. His purpose, he said, was not to deliver an address, but to deliver diplomas—which stand for work done, for years of growth and for instruction in methods of service. The state in the training of teachers provides good buildings and equipments, but he believed that these things were not the most essential ones. A good pupil on one side of a log and a good teacher on the other, it has been said, make a university.

In conclusion Dr. Wheelock told of a trip across seas, in which for ten days the ship was out of sight of land. On the last night he asked the captain how long it would be before land was sighted and received the answer that in fifteen minutes and below a certain star, he would see the beams of the sun.

Hi-Y Club Banquet

There were about 55 present at the third annual banquet of the Hi-Y club held yesterday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building. After a tasty repast served by the Ladies' auxiliary, the evening's program was opened with a short talk by Secretary A. C. Lange, after which amusing speeches were given by each of the girls present on the subject, "What is the Matter with the High School Boy?" and the boys reciprocated with their opinions on "What is the Matter with the High School Girl?" Several amusing contests followed and the evening's entertainment was concluded with the singing of school songs. The occasion was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Public Service Commission Certificate

Mrs. Matilda M. Driggs of this city has been granted a certificate by the Public Service commission for the operation of her River street bus line. The certificate is not to be assigned without the consent of the commission and is subject to the consent of the city authorities of Oneonta. This consent was given recently when Mrs. Driggs made application for the renewal for three years of the franchise under which she has been operating. Mrs. Driggs has had a franchise from the city ever since she began the operation of the bus, but thought it advisable, in order that her position might be strengthened, to obtain a certificate from the Public Service commission.

NEED FOR PARKING PLACE

Mayor Miller emphasizes Urgent Need of Oneonta in Talk to Oneonta Rotary Club.

The need for a large automobile parking place operated by the city, combined with a closed public market instead of the present curb market, was emphasized by Mayor Clarence C. Miller in a talk before the Rotary club of Oneonta at its weekly luncheon yesterday noon. He particularly pointed out the advantages of the land lying behind buildings in the block of Chestnut street extension, Market, Broad, and Main streets, and the necessity for relieving the traffic congestion caused by parking cars on Main street.

Immediate adoption of zoning ordinances, planning of future streets, continuance of progress being made in meeting demands for school facilities, improvement in methods of valuation and assessment, revision of the city charter, and other matters of civic importance were mentioned by Mayor Miller in his talk as the urgent needs of Oneonta.

A telegram was read at the luncheon from Herbert C. Gelman, who is in St. Louis this week as official delegate of the Oneonta Rotary club to the fourteenth convention of Rotary International, the reference in the telegram to hot weather calling forth remarks of a more or less sympathetic nature. Charles Cushing, a member of Niagara Falls Rotary club, was a guest at the luncheon.

BOLT PLAYS TAG ON BOY

Lightning Killed His Horse and Ran All Over His Body.

Physicians in charge of Steve Koppy, aged eighteen, of Mandan, N. D., report he will recover, but will always carry scars showing how a bolt of lightning played tag about his body. The youth was driving a four-horse team hitched to a wagon when lightning struck, killing two of the animals.

The bolt tore through his hat, followed down his back to the waist where it ran around his body, up his right breast, struck his shoulder and passed down his arm. The scars are like those made by a hot iron.

The family of Henry Van Sluver of Kingston, N. Y., enjoys fresh fish through the proclivities of their pet cat, Teddy. How the cat catches the fish is a problem the family have not solved.

Teddy, when seen by a reporter, had nothing to say fit for publication.

IT IS NEW HEADS FOR OLD ONES IN BRITAIN

Scientists Cut Off Beetles' and Then Graft Others to the Bodies.

Is your head woozy? Would you like a new one? All right, just as easy! All you have got to do is to choose one you like and science will do the rest. How? By cutting yours off and grafting a new one on.

True, science has not gone quite so far as to experiment with human heads, but at a recent meeting of the Royal Society in Burlington house, Piccadilly W., London, beetles whose heads had been cut off were shown with other beetles' heads transplanted on them. It was asserted by the scientist in charge that the body of the beetle on being given a change of head would gradually conform to the species, and even of sex, of the decapitated beetle whose head it now wore.

Some of these beetles lived six weeks after their change of heads, and fed and lived normally.

Sir Richard Paget gave a demonstration of his invention of an artificial throat which can make vowel sounds and even speak.

BIGGEST DIVER FOR BRITAIN

Mystery Submarine to Mount Twelve-Inch Gun; Has Great Speed.

England will have the largest and most powerful submarine in the world when the mystery ship, submarine X-1, is completed. This giant underwater craft, which will soon be launched at Chatham, will displace 2,780 tons, and 3,800 tons when submerged. The displacement is greater by more than 1,000 tons than that of any American or German submarine.

The X-1 will mount a 12-inch gun. It will be able to bombard an object at long or short range, and then slip quickly beneath the waves.

With its great speed and gun power, which will surpass anything in its class in the American navy, it will be more than a match for most surface vessels.

Hans, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Siverts, was saved from death in Spring Creek, N. D., by Carl Maxie, seven years old.

Hans tumbled into the creek, which was swollen by the recent rains. Carl peeped over the bank to determine that his playmate had landed in the water and then ran to a point a short distance below where the current cut close to the bank.

He arrived there ahead of Hans, who soon came down the creek, his protruding foot giving the only indication of his presence. Carl grabbed the foot and soon had Hans on dry land, where the neighbors revived him.

Ribbon Used on War Awards World-Strich 1,800 Miles.

More than 14,000,000 medals have been awarded by the British government to men and women who served the country with distinction during the great war. The total length of ribbon on these medals would extend 1,800 miles.

Among the decorations awarded are 800,000 1914 stars, 145,000 clasps to the 1914 star, 1,700,000 1914-15 stars, 4,700,000 British war medals, and 2,500,000 Victory medals.

Huge quantities of medals were sent to Canada and the other dominions to soldiers and nurses who distinguished themselves.

CUT DEATH RATE AMONG INDIANS

Peak of Excessive Mortality Was Reached in 1913.

POPULATION IS ON THE GAIN

The National Tuberculosis association appointed a committee in 1921 to investigate tuberculosis among the North American Indians. Drs. G. M. Kober, G. L. Buswell, H. E. Leavitt, J. A. Murphy and A. R. Tarkin and Mr. W. H. Baldwin comprised the committee. In its recent report, says the Journal of the American Medical association, it is said that the peak of excessive mortality among the Indians was reached in 1913, when the death rate was 32.24 per thousand. This was gradually reduced until, in 1920, the rate was 22.33 per thousand. Of the total number of deaths of Indians in 1911, tuberculosis caused 32 per cent; in 1920, 27 per cent.

Scrofula and consumption were observed among the Indians of North America as early as 1635-1654, in which period the prevalence of tuberculosis among the Indians was no greater than among the white race, and perhaps not as great. It appears that there has been a progressive increase in the prevalence of the disease since their contact with the white race. The variations in the prevalence of tuberculosis among the different tribes today are great—some are thoroughly tubercularized; others show the characteristics of recent acquaintance with the disease.

Decadence Halted.

Among the five civilized tribes of Indians in Oklahoma, tuberculosis is no more prevalent than among the white people of the state who live on the same industrial plane. The Indian has passed through a state of decadence when his disappearance was imminent. Medical science and a humanitarian government have overcome his downward trend, and there is now a hopeful outlook, according to the report. The records of the census bureau indicates that there has been an increase in the Indian population of 7,241 since 1900.

The first hospital for Indians was established in 1882. In 1922 there were 73 hospitals, 200 physicians, 100 nurses, 100 hospital employees, 90 matrons and other employees in the Indian medical service. The committee says that, with few exceptions, the spirit which animates the work of the physicians, teachers and other employees in the conservation of the health of the Indians is worthy of praise, and that the most urgent need today are provisions for adults in the incipient and advanced stages of tuberculosis.

There are needed two or three sanatoriums, one of them for hopeless cases, where an adult Indian can die in peace and comfort without jeopardizing the lives of those to whose care he is committed. This sound policy, the committee continues, is absolutely essential for anything like reasonable success in mitigating the spread and ravages of the disease.

Who is Responsible?

In some states, notably New York, there is a conflict of opinion as to whether the federal or state government is responsible for the health of the Indians. It appears that the federal government has never made any appropriation for the health service of the New York Indians, because the treaties between the Six Nations of New York and the United States have no reference to the Indians' health. The committee urgently recommends, in justice to the tribes of New York, that the conflict of jurisdiction be brought to the attention of the Department of Justice with a view of settlement.

While there are a good many Indians who are citizens and taxpayers, it should be remembered that the majority of the 308,337 Indians in the United States are poor and scattered. The policy of the bureau of Indian Affairs has been to make them self-supporting by teaching them how to work. Their employment unfortunately is often of a temporary character, and their income wholly inadequate to maintain a proper standard of living. Thus, their vitality is often so reduced they are unable to do a full day's work, and they are cruelly accused of being lazy, when in truth they have not sufficient food, says the writer.

The horror is worse than poverty, food is an important cause of the undue prevalence of tuberculosis, and yet, sometimes in extreme emergencies, it is difficult, if not impossible, to meet the situation, owing to the lack of funds.

Street Noises Affect Time Clock for World

Paris.—The international time of day is out of time a day from the Paris observatory, located not far from the Latin quarter. But the noise of the city is so great and the vibrations from street traffic so noticeable that the requisite accuracy is becoming impossible and the director of the institution says he must move his instruments to the peace and quiet of the country. The exact determination of the hour is regarded as one of the most difficult measurement problems of astronomy. For navigators and explorers the time is calculated to the hundredth part of a second.

Children Like "Play Cars"

"Play as You Enter" is the welcome sign on the sides of the "Jollytown" trolley cars in Baltimore, near one of the city parks, where the traction company has set aside several cars for the children to play in. The cars are complete in every detail except that the power is turned off and they are anchored to the ground. Instead of the usual advertising cards, Mother Goose rhymes and animal pictures are displayed along the sides. The constant din of register bells, clanging gongs, starting and stopping signals, and the loud calling of imaginary and unheard-of street names afford a noisy proof to the amused passers-by of the extreme popularity of the "play cars" as the crews take them along fancied routes.

After the diplomas had been presented, each member of the class passing before Dr. Wheelock upon the platform, and receiving from his hands the certificate of the state, Dr. Bugbee addressed the class of '23, which is also the twenty-fifth class to have finished its work under his supervision. As is always the case, the address by Dr. Bugbee was full of kindly thought, of wise counsel and of good suggestion; and his words will long remain for inspiration with those to whom addressed. The address by Dr. Bugbee was substantially as follows:

It is truly for us a red letter day when we can send you three hundred strong with our utmost confidence and firmest trust to do the work which the state asks you to do. Though you leave these halls, you go forth irrevocably ours, and I believe it is our greatest strength and our supreme glory that we, unitedly recognize the bond.

Our hope for you is grounded in this unspoken and unwritten promise. It is based on the faith of moral purpose. It trusts that you will know and choose the greater values. It appreciates the influence of desire in its effect on life and effort. For it differs far more in ambition than in abilities. It is desire which leads to confidence in self because it alone is the spur to effort. It is practically true that nothing will be beyond your capabilities if you want it hard enough. Much of the good that the world has been done by men and women of only fair mental powers but animated with a great and persistent eagerness for their tasks. More than all else it is this eagerness which we covet for you. You have seen its effect in your days here as student. How costly and happily you have done even the difficult things when you desired to do them has been strenuous. And no one should know more clearly than you that this eagerness is in the make a matter of habit, and that habit is a slave of will which in turn is born of desire. The chief of this race is to learn to show you that this desire will be constant and lead to your liking can be made a thing of greatest joy by being to some position, effort. If you have believed this so thoroughly that it has become to you a truth go plain that cannot be forgotten. We have a purpose which is great and noble, for the sake of which we wish. If it occurs

Normal Commencement Notes.

Parents of members of the class from all parts of the state were present at the exercises yesterday, and a considerable number of them, coming earlier, had been present throughout the entire week. The longer sojourners had opportunity to visit Cooperstown and other places in this section, and all were enthusiastic in praise of a school delightful for location.

There are the names of 227 persons upon the above list, of whom 237 graduated from the Elementary course, 60 from the Kindergarten-Primary, and 40 had summer session certificates. Twenty-six of these graduates are residents of Oneonta and 42 of Otsego county as a whole. There were 16 from Delaware county, seven from Chenango and nine from Schoharie. Perusal of the list will show that all sections of the state are well represented, a considerable number coming from Long Island, a part of the state with which Oneonta has always been popular, and where many graduates from the school are now engaged.

The summer session of the Oneonta Normal will open on June 29—Saturday of next week. A large attendance is looked for. A complete list of members of the faculty appeared in The Star a few days ago.

The next regular session of the school will open on Wednesday, September 12. Applications for admission already received indicate that the new year will come fully up to the previous high record of the school in membership. If indeed former attendance is not surpassed.

The Annual Banquet.

There was a large attendance at the annual banquet, which was held last evening in the Normal gymnasium. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Kilkenny, and later an hour and half was devoted to addresses and music. Dr. Bugbee, who was toastmaster, never presided with finer grace or with keener appreciation of the good things eaten, said and sung.

The speakers were six in number. Mr. Becker, class of '00, spoke for the alumni, especially emphasizing their loyalty and gratitude. His class was '00-y, but the speech was nice. Mr. Curtis spoke in his usual happy vein for the faculty. Miss Gee in her remarks for the intermediate department, spoke of her delightful years of service in Oneonta Normal. Miss Harrison for this year's class voiced its full appreciation for the life of the school. Dr. Schumacher for the faculty spoke of the rare quality of the student body of the Normal school, and Mr. Augustus Cohen with a brief talk on his first year with the Training department, and of his own pleasure in returning to the institution which is his alma mater.

There were also several musical numbers, the solos being by Miss Esther Greene of the faculty, and Miss M. Virginia Morris of the class of '22; and everybody in the banquet hall joined in the school songs which all know and love to sing.
